PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

Marketer who has built marketing functions from scratch as the first or only marketer at SaaS, fintech and technical B2B companies across Africa, North America and Europe. I own positioning, search, AI answer visibility, paid and lifecycle, and I write and ship the work myself. My search and answer-engine work includes a 3,000-keyword organic build at Distrobird, a multi-market AI answer teardown for Binance, and a public audit tool that measures which sources AI assistants cite. I have hired and run writers, editors and specialists, and I report spend against real pipeline. More at jamespraise.xyz/work/klarent.

Selected Achievements:

- Built Distrobird's inbound engine as Head of Inbound Marketing and SEO: ranked for 3,000+ competitive keywords in three months and reached 500K monthly search impressions, running five writers and two editors.
- Took Reform from a general form builder to a conversion-focused product. 34% lift in trial activation, 48% rise in non-branded organic traffic from an AI-assisted SEO engine that scaled output to 100 articles a month, and 19% more decision-stage leads from competitor pages.
- Built a technical robotics company's marketing from one indexed page: 1 to 17 indexed pages and a 2,064% rise in organic sessions in nine weeks, plus positioning, 15 landing pages and Google and LinkedIn Ads setup.
- Ran AI answer audits on four companies and published them, including a 30-question audit of Klarent across ChatGPT (through OpenAI's Codex), Perplexity, Gemini and Google AI Overviews (Klarent was named in none of the answers to the 18 questions that leave its name out), a six-market, four-language Binance teardown and an open-source audit tool that asks AI models the questions buyers ask and records who gets cited.
- Generated 1,331 marketing qualified leads in six months as Head of Growth and Marketing at Bujeti (YC W23), with 200+ coming from events and partnerships and new B2B customers up 500% in Q1 2024.
