Adapty – Content Marketing Manager

Dear Adapty team,

In April 2024 I started Marketing In Action (MIA), a newsletter that now reaches more than 5,000 subscribers in 86 countries, with a 47.5% average open rate and a 3.12% average click rate. I started it as the first or only marketer at several startups, where I could never find reliable benchmarks or usable templates. So I wrote my own playbooks down and shared them.

Nobody asked me to build the Openbenchmarks project. I ran 36 buyer searches and built a charted benchmark article in Claude Code from openly licensed data, and it sits at https://jamespraise.xyz/work/openbenchmarks/proof/. At Distrobird I ran a content team of seven, and we ranked for more than 3,000 keywords in three months. At FunnelEnvy I pulled my own numbers through Google Analytics 4, Looker Studio, HubSpot and Lightdash, and reporting got 50% faster.

The first webinar I planned and hosted at FunnelEnvy drew 41 registrations, 29% of them attended, and it brought 39 new newsletter subscribers. At Bujeti (YC W23) I ran a founder webinar series, and events and webinars produced more than 200 of our 1,331 marketing qualified leads in six months.

Subscriptions are close to my work as well. At Reform, free-trial campaigns lifted trial-to-paid conversion by 21%, and win-back journeys reactivated 8% of cancelled paid subscribers. Your State of In-App Subscriptions 2026 report says weekly plans made up 55.6% of 2025 revenue. I would start the first research piece there, by pulling what Builder users change in their first flow and finding the story in it.

What do you think?

James
