OnTheGoSystems – Head of Content

The Head of Content role asks for someone who builds content and growth systems with AI in the daily work, and that's how I already work. At Distrobird, I built an inbound content engine from zero and managed five writers and two editors, ranking for 3,000+ keywords and reaching 500K monthly search impressions in 90 days.

At Reform, I built an AI-assisted SEO engine that scaled content output 100x and lifted non-branded organic traffic 48%. I also run my own newsletter, 5,000+ subscribers at a 47% average open rate, on an AI content workflow I built with review gates and automated distribution. My SEO work runs on Ahrefs, Semrush and the DataForSEO API.

I've worked inside WordPress, installing and configuring plugins, but I haven't marketed a WordPress plugin business before.

WPML runs on 1.5 million sites, and more of its next buyers will ask an AI assistant which multilingual plugin to use. Making sure WPML is the answer they get is where I'd start.
