Remote – GTM Product Manager, Marketing Operations

This role's core ask, owning the technical build of a marketing operations stack, describes work I already do. A recurring pattern in my career is being trusted to own infrastructure other people only want to use.

At Reform, I led the Email Service Provider (ESP) migration from Userlist to Brevo: full authentication setup (DKIM, DMARC, SPF), a Kickbox-driven list cleanup that cut the contact list from 10,104 to 7,808, and workflow validation before cutover. Bounce rates fell 18%, email churn fell 22%. I also built Reform's PartnerStack affiliate program from scratch, covering recruiting, incentive structure and tracking.

At FunnelEnvy, I built agentic growth infrastructure: a centralized brand knowledge repo, custom Claude skills, and a Webflow Model Context Protocol (MCP) publishing pipeline running in production. Claude Code is daily tooling for me. Some of that work is public at https://github.com/realjaymes/marketingagentskills.

I haven't personally administered Salesforce, LeanData, Outreach, ZoomInfo, or Qualified. I have run HubSpot, Brevo, Clay, and ExactBuyer with that same ownership, and that's the closest real comparison.

Remote puts kindness first and ownership second in how it operates. That's the order I try to work in too.

James

P.S. I've created a portfolio focused on this role at https://jamespraise.xyz/work/remote/.