PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

Product marketer who owns positioning, competitive intelligence, and content alone at resource-constrained companies competing against better-funded rivals. I specialize in translating deep technical capability into narrative a specialist buyer trusts, the exact work behind Reform's repositioning from a general-purpose form builder into a category-defining, conversion-focused product after acquisition. I build the systems I market instead of only writing about them. I have published 31 marketing AI agent skills publicly on GitHub, direct evidence of the technical fluency and hands-on AI building this market increasingly expects from its content. Work has contributed to $10M+ in qualified pipeline and 15+ product launches across B2B SaaS, fintech, and technical infrastructure companies. More at jamespraise.xyz/work/arcanna.

Selected Achievements:

- Repositioned Reform from a general-purpose form builder into a category-defining, conversion-focused product following acquisition, alone. 34% lift in trial activation, 19% more decision-stage leads from new competitor pages.
- Built and published 31 marketing AI agent skills publicly on GitHub (marketingagentskills), proof of building AI systems rather than only describing them.
- Designed an AI-enabled outbound GTM stack and agentic content infrastructure at FunnelEnvy (Clay, n8n, Claude Code, MCP), generating 10+ distribution outputs from a single asset.
- Built Reform's competitor and integration content (HubSpot, Zapier, Typeform, Jotform), functioning as working battlecards for prospects evaluating alternatives. 28% more organic sessions from integration pages.
- Built the growth function from scratch at Bujeti, a YC-backed seed-stage fintech, generating 1,331 MQLs in 6 months, direct proof of comfort at Series A-C pace.
